ABOUT THE COVER ARTIST

Kasia Bukowska

Kasia Bukowska is not only an artist, but also an equestrian. Since she was three years old and had the opportunity to grab the mane of a poor pony at Griffith Park in California, she says, she has never let go of that dream: to ride horses and be around these amazing, graceful, and powerful animals. Kasia rode as much as I could as a child, took as many lessons as her parents would allow, and competed at as many shows as possible. Her horse obsession took her to Poland, where I planned to pursue her career in riding. However, it soon became difficult for her to do everyday activities, and she restricted to her bed for five months. Ultimately, Kasia was diagnosed with Lupus SLE and Fibromyalgia. Today, she is still working with doctors on getting her health challenges back into remission so she can go back to spending time at the barn with her horses, training, and competing. At the moment, she pours her passion for horses into her artwork.

"Art is a way for me to express myself and has always been an important part of my life, but being separated from horses is what gave me the motivation and ambition to paint my abstract pieces," Kasia explains. "Horses set my heart free on those rough days so, even if I cannot get to the barn, I paint and draw to stay in touch with my true passion. I believe that this passion for my equine friends captures their true beauty and translates it into my unique works of art. I use many mediums, including acrylics, spray paint, pencil, and pastels."

Kassia admits that she has been doodling on class notes and sketching on homework assignments for as long as she can remember. In high school, she dipped into stencils and spray paint and had her pieces exhibited at The Hive Gallery and The Skirball Cultural Center in Los Angeles. Stenciling is a style that she still uses in some of her more modern, retro equine pieces. Her artwork has developed over the years, and she really started focusing on her horse portraits after being diagnosed with Lupus. Considering a life without horses, she channeled her feelings onto canvas. She got an overwhelming response on Facebook when she posted some of her pieces and was delighted when people began inquiring about custom orders.

Kassia's inspiration for this year's winning artwork, The Untamed, came to her one morning when she woke up and had an urge to paint something bold and valiant. Like a majority of her paintings, Kassia said that initially she had no idea what she wanted to paint, or even what colors to use, but she knew she needed to paint. She picked out the biggest canvas she had, laid out all her acrylics and paint brushes on a table, divided the colors into groups, and ended up picking the pile of browns. "I just had a feeling of what to paint, but nothing specific in mind. I expressed these feelings I had mustering inside me onto canvas and the result was The Untamed."

The Untamed is my perspective on the Lusitano, a dauntless and gallant spirit that is, at the same time, calm and affectionate. I see and feel all of these traits in the eye of The Untamed.

Kassia's future goal as an artist is to exhibit her work globally. She has already exhibited in California and Poland and would like to travel across Europe sharing her burning love of horses with other horse lovers and art enthusiasts. As far as her riding career, she plans to compete on her Polish Warmblood jumper by the end of this year. "Some doctors say I'm crazy, but I say my love of horses keeps me going and keeps me strong," Kassia says, "I have always dreamed of owning, training, and breeding young horses, and I've never had more ambition than I do now to make that happen."

THE 2016 IALHA NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP SHOW IS DEDICATED TO

Nadine Tilley

"Thank you, Nadine"

for your staunch support of the IALHA and for doing so much to help promote the breed.

A wonderful supporter of the breed and avid competitor, Nadine has left an indelible mark on the IALHA and, more generally, on Andalusians and Lusitanos in North America. Her ranch is a showcase of champions, a royal backdrop for horses whose ancestry is beyond compare.

Holistic Veterinarians On Site

Animal Health VIPS (Veterinary Integrative and Performance Specialists) is the US's first completely integrative specialty veterinary practice. All of our veterinarians are completely dedicated to providing the highest quality blend of clinical integrative techniques (such as acupuncture, Chinese and Western herbs, homeopathy, chiropractic and structural alignment) with modern research and advancements. And we try to do so the old-fashioned way - spending the time (even at horse shows) to listen to client concerns and doing the best we can to meet our clients' and animals' needs. We are also the only practice in the Western US to combine the Lameness Locator gait analysis system and thermal imaging to find vague soft tissue problems. Our vets are:

Kim Henneman, DVM, DACVSMR (EQ, K9), FAAVA, CVA, CVC: Dr. Henneman started Animal Health VIPS (then as Animal Health Options) in 1989. She currently is the only veterinarian in the US, UK and Europe to be Board-certified in both Equine and Canine Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation (a recognized veterinary clinical and scientific specialty). Dr. Henneman was certified in acupuncture in 1990 and is one of 24 veterinarians in the US to have completed the advanced Fellow certification in acupuncture. Dr. Henneman also received her chiropractic certification in 1992, the 21st veterinarian in the US. She has accompanied the US Equestrian Team's Endurance team all around the world to the Pan Am Games in Washington, the WEG in Spain and the World Championships in Dubai. As an eventing competitor herself, she understands the needs of all her patients in all disciplines from the geriatric youth horse to the upper level FEI competitor. She is also a 5 time Iditarod sled dog race veterinarian.

Deb Hadlock, VMD, DABVP, CVA, CVSMT: Dr. Hadlock joined Animal Health Options in 2009 after moving from New York. She is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. After a year-long internship, she transitioned into a career of cardiology with the founders of telemedicine pioneer, Cardiopet where she was senior cardiologist for nearly 2 decades, consulting on heart problems from cats to cows to equine athletes. In 1995 she became board certified by the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners. She became certified in veterinary acupuncture in 2000 and then in Veterinary Spinal Manipulation (chiropractic from a functional neurologic foundation) in 2013. Her special interests include the Asian soft tissue therapy of Tuina (a cross between fascial work, acupressure and osteopathy). She is also a four time Iditarod Sled Dog race veterinarian.

Josh Harper, DVM, CVSMT: Dr. Harper grew up in Corinne, UT near Brigham City. He grew up and is very comfortable around all kinds of animals, companion animal, equine and livestock alike. He did his pre-vet at Utah State University from 2002-2005. He graduated as a veterinarian from Washington State in 2009. During his 6 years of practice, he has practiced at mixed animal practices both in Washington and Northern Utah, but has always been fascinated in more natural, less invasive ways to help animal health problems. In June of 2014, Dr. Josh started down the fulfilling road of integrative medicine by completing his certification in Veterinary Spinal Manipulation Therapy (chiropractic). He is currently completing his certification in Veterinary Acupuncture at the Chi Institute in Florida. His special interests are in how nerve signaling integrates with the mechanics of movement for in injury, health and performance.

SM Serafin
Dominante XXIX x Quintanarro

The horses of SF Andalusians have each proven themselves in many disciplines & earned their share of championships. Serafin is no different, already having won 2 Halter National Championships! We are excited to see what the new show season brings for Serafin and SF Andalusians.
